ABOUT THE DEPARTMENT

The Department of Production Technology, MIT Campus, is one of the key academic units of Madras Institute of Technology (MIT) Campus, celebrating 50 Years of Excellence through its Golden Jubilee (1977–2027). Established in 1977 as the fifth department at MIT, it has steadily grown into a multidisciplinary hub for Manufacturing, Automation, Robotics, and Mechatronics, aligning academic learning with modern industrial needs. The department offers a strong suite of UG/PG programme including B.E. Production Engineering, B.E. Robotics and Automation, M.E. Manufacturing Engineering, and M.E. Mechatronics, along with part-time B.E. Mechanical Engineering and Ph.D. research opportunities. A notable milestone is its early leadership in mechatronics education, having initiated one of India's earliest full-time M.E. Mechatronics programme in 1999, reflecting its commitment to integrating mechanical systems with electronics, control, and intelligent automation. Over the years, the department has hosted and contributed to major national and international events such as AIRPAM, ADFORM, RIPE, and RETNAM, besides conducting seminars, summer/winter schools, short-term programme, and FDPs. The department's research ecosystem is strengthened through sponsorship and support from agencies such as AICTE, DST-FIST, UGC-DRS/SAP, DRDO (NRB), DST-SERB, CMRG, and TANII, aligned with the UGC–University with Potential for Excellence (UPE) framework, and reinforced by its NBA accreditation.

ABOUT THE CONFERENCE

The Department of Production Technology is organizing the 3rd International Conference on Recent Innovations in Production Engineering (RIPE 2027), building on its legacy of conferences and workshops in manufacturing, design, mechatronics, automation, and inspection. RIPE 2027 will unite researchers to exchange ideas, address challenges, learn new methods, and gain insights through keynote lectures by eminent speakers. The themes of the conference (but not limited to) are

• Sustainable Manufacturing • Robotics and Automation • Industry 5.0 • Additive Manufacturing • Advanced manufacturing • Composites • Smart Materials • Surface Engineering • Resource Management

JOURNAL PUBLICATIONS

After peer review process, all the accepted and presented papers, will be published in Scopus indexed proceedings / journals. Please refer the conference website for the list of the Q1 and Q2 journals.

High quality research papers are invited in the following areas, but not limited to:

- Sustainable Manufacturing
- Additive Manufacturing
- Smart Manufacturing
- Industry 4.0 and Industry 5.0
- Cyber-Physical Systems
- Automation and Smart Systems
- AI and ML in Manufacturing
- Hybrid Manufacturing
- Digital Manufacturing
- Micro and Nano Manufacturing
- Manufacturing Modelling and Simulation
- Advanced Machining
- Thermal Aspects in Manufacturing
- Advances in Cutting Tools
- Modern Trends in Machine Tools
- Joining Technologies
- Forming Processes
- Resource Management
- Processing of Composites and Polymers
- Energy Beam Processing
- Surface Engineering
- Reverse Engineering
- Gear Engineering
- Precision Engineering
- Computations in Manufacturing
- Metrology and Quality Engineering
- Smart Materials
- Robotics and Automation
- CAD/CAM/CAE
- Advanced Manufacturing

About Anna University

Anna University was established on 4th September, 1978 as a unitary type of University. This University was named after Late Dr. C. N. Annadurai, former Chief Minister of Tamil Nadu. It offers higher education in Engineering, Technology, Architecture and Applied Sciences relevant to the current and projected needs of the society. Besides promoting research and disseminating knowledge gained there from, it fosters cooperation between the academic and industrial communities. The University was formed by bringing together and integrating four well known technical institutions in the city of Madras (now Chennai) namely:

1. College of Engineering (CEG) (1794)
2. Alagappa College of Technology (ACT) (1944)
3. Madras Institute of Technology (MIT) (1949)
4. School of Architecture & Planning (SAP) (1957)

ABOUT MADRAS INSTITUTE OF TECHNOLOGY

In 1949, Shri.C.Rajam, gave the newly independent India-Madras Institute of Technology, so that MIT could establish the strong technical base it needed to take its place in the world. It was the rare genius and daring of its founder that made MIT offer courses like Aeronautical Engineering, Automobile Engineering, Electronics Engineering and Instrument Technology for the first time in our country.

Now it also provides technical education in other engineering fields such as Production Technology, Information Technology, Computer Technology and Rubber and Plastic Technology. It was merged with Anna University in the year 1978. MIT has produced great scientist like Dr.A.P.J.Abdul Kalam, ISRO Chairman K.Sivan, versatile genius like Sujatha, Ramesh Praba and many more. The broad-based education, coupled with practice-oriented training in their specialty, has enabled the students of MIT to handle with skill and success a wide variety of technical problems. MIT has developed into an important centre of engineering education and earned an excellent reputation both in India and abroad.
